

2023-2024 Junior Program

The FRC Junior Program will offer group classes for players of all levels and ages. The program will be broken down into two main pathways: Development and Performance.

There will be five sessions, classes that meet once a week per enrollment (multiple sign-ups are encouraged)

Session 1: 9/5-10/22: 7 weeks ($364) (Monday 6x ($312)- No Play on 9/4)

Session 2: 10/23-12/17: 7 weeks ($364) (No Play Thanksgiving Week 11/20-11/26)

Session 3: 1/2-2/18: 7 weeks ($364) (Monday 6x ($312)- No Play on 1/1)

Session 4: 2/19-4/21: 8 weeks ($416) (No Play Spring Break 3/25-3/31)

Session 5: 4/22-6/9: 7 weeks ($364) (Monday 6x ($312)-No Play on 5/27)

We will only be taking enrollments for students in the current session (i.e., Session 1 enrollment is from 7/11-10/22). Players enrolled will have priority to reenroll for subsequent sessions before openings will be made available to new students.

Due to limited space and enrollment availability, we do not offer makeups for missed classes

If a student must unenroll due to a medical condition, a prorated refund will be given once a paid replacement is found. **

Philosophy: There are no shortcuts to success. We strongly believe in the process of development with a foundation built on sound fundamental techniques and a long-term big picture in mind. We want our players to have fun from the start so that they develop a love for the game. At the same time, we emphasize proper stroke mechanics and growth of general athletic skills to allow each player to maximize their potential on the court. Given that all players develop at different rates, we believe there is no one secret to success other than putting in the time and effort to improve. In order to focus on our players and their individual needs, the FRC Junior Program follows a low compression ball progression that scales court size, racquet size, and type of ball to the age, size, and skill level of each player.

DEVELOPMENT PATHWAY:

These classes are offered to players who are learning the fundamental techniques and skills associated with tennis. Players may range from beginner to intermediate and advanced levels and will be grouped within classes based on their needs and skill level. Key components of the developmental pathway will be working on fundamental athletic skills, learning and refining proper stroke mechanics and technical skills, and developing consistency and control in live ball play. Classes will be offered in Red Ball (ages 8 and under), Orange Ball (approx. ages 7-10), Green Ball (approx. ages 9-12), and Yellow Ball (approx. ages 12 and up).

Class Format: Orange, Green and Yellow ball classes are 90 minutes long and are multi-court classes. We aim to keep class sizes small with enrollment based on 4 players per court, however depending on group levels, some classes may have slightly larger or smaller groups per court. Red Ball classes are 1 hour long with 4 players per scaled red ball court (36' court).

Cost:

Orange, Green, and Yellow ball classes: $364 per 7-week session.

Red ball classes: $252 per 7-week session.

PERFORMANCE PATHWAY:

Admission into the performance program is based on a variety of factors including technical skill, player goals and motivations, and commitment to improvement. The performance program is invitation based, and any players wishing to join the performance group must complete a 30-minute private lesson assessment. The program is considered year-round and players are expected to participate in summer-camps as well as holiday camps with exceptions for travel. Players are also expected to be competing in tournaments and match-play outside of class.

Performance classes will prioritize continued development of proper technical skills as well as live-ball play to emphasize match-specific strategy and decision making. Classes also incorporate a fitness component.

Past or current enrollment in performance classes is not a guarantee of a future spot in class. Players are continuously evaluated for appropriate placement in the program.
